VIII. Read the following passage, and answer the questions as directed: (5 x 2 = 10marks)

Our ancestors had great difficulty in procuring books. Ours now is what to select. We must be careful what we read. There are, indeed, books and books; and there are books which, as Lamb said, are not books at all. There are many books to which one may apply, in the sarcastic sense, the ambiguous remark which Lord Beaconsfield made to an unfortunate author, 'I will lose no time in reading your book.' Others are more than useless, and poison the mind with suggestions of evil. Few perhaps realize how much the happiness of life, and the formation of character, depend on a wise selection of the books we read.

16. The problem today is _____ ()

- A) how to procure books
- B) there are too many books
- C) which book to select
- D) there are no good books

17. In the passage, "I will lose no time in reading your book" means that one will – ()

- A) not waste time in reading the book
- B) read the book
- C) finish reading the book quickly
- D) read the book later

18. The above passage suggests that - ()

- A) there are great difficulties involved in procuring books these days
- B) it is easy to distinguish the good book from the bad one
- C) books bring us much happiness in life
- D) much care needs to be taken in selecting a book for reading

19. The phrase 'ambiguous remark' in the above passage means - ()

- A) of doubtful meaning
- B) sarcastic suggestion
- C) having double meaning
- D) confused sense

20. The words 'poison the mind' imply that some books - ()

- A) contain poison
- B) corrupt the mind
- C) cause disaster
- D) are useless

IX. Fill in the blanks with the correct words from the choice given.
(5x1 = 5 marks)
